November 2020

Dear Friends:

AIDS Action Baltimore (AAB) has been providing essential services to people with HIV/AIDS since 1987. Thanks to your generosity, we're still standing. We know only too well that times are still tough, but as we commemorate our 33rd year of service, we hope we can count on your continued support which will help us maintain our many HIV/AIDS programs. We still desperately need your help to keep our doors open and continue to provide our many essential services to the Baltimore HIV/AIDS community. We hope you will remember us and continue your loyal support. Please help us in any way you can. Your donations will enable us to continue our marvelous record of benevolence and compassion with only a rate of 6.1% overhead in 2019. The amount of work we accomplish and the effect we have had on the war against HIV with only four employees is truly amazing!

Although HIV disease is becoming a chronic manageable disease, here is why we still need your help now more than ever:

In the latest Centers for Disease Control (CDC) data reported in 2019, Maryland was ranked 6th among U.S. states and territories in adult/adolescent HIV diagnosis rates (per 100,000) in 2018, tied with Mississippi. At year-end 2018, 1,173,900 persons in the United States aged 13+ were living with diagnosed or undiagnosed HIV infection. At year end 2019, there were 31,630 people aged 13+ living with diagnosed HIV in Maryland. It is estimated that 3,830 people with HIV in Maryland in 2019 remain undiagnosed.

COVID-19 is eating a large percentage of US funding. We are in danger of losing all our hard won treatment and prevention gains.

AAB has been instrumental again this year in the effort to reduce HIV infections in Baltimore. We are currently administering two HIV prevention programs, one for transgender women and one for gay men. All our prevention programs provide outreach, prevention education, testing assistance, healthcare linkages and adherence support. Our PrEP UP program promotes PrEP (pre-exposure prophylaxis) use in interested gay men and transgender women. PrEP is a one pill once a day prevention regimen that has proven to be 99% effective in reducing HIV transmission risk. So far, our PrEP efforts have been extremely successful. New Horizons, our stigma reducing, empowerment prevention program for black gay men has also been very effective. The CDC tells us that black gay men have a 1 in 2 chance of becoming HIV infected in their lifetimes. Our new program seeks to educate black gay men about this exorbitant risk and to help them build networks of support to combat the many social obstacles they encounter which contribute to their risk of becoming HIV infected. We are very excited about these new programs which have had excellent HIV prevention and treatment adherence results. We have developed even more community partnerships, including a collaboration with FreeState Justice. We recently worked successfully with FreeState Justice taking the lead to help pass new legislation to allow minors to obtain HIV prevention drug access without obtaining parental consent, and conducting outreach to trans women.

We have been educating people about Treatment as Prevention (TasP), known as U = U (Undetectable HIV = Untransmittable HIV) as well as the latest in HIV treatment. We will continue to link people to care providers and help them to stay on their PrEP and HIV medications. We are very excited about our very successful support and education programs which have helped to decrease the number of people who become HIV infected and positive people who are unable to sexually transmit HIV because their virus is undetectable and thus untransmittable (U=U).

AAB still provides financial assistance to many needy people with HIV/AIDS. AAB has provided this support to over 8,600 people since 1987 and $3,100,000 in assistance for items such as rent and utilities, and direct programs to people with HIV/AIDS and their families in our community. We firmly believe we must continue our invaluable financial assistance program which provides a safety net to people with HIV/AIDS experiencing an emergency financial crisis.

The Trump Administration promised to End the HIV Epidemic, but Trump proposed a cut in other HIV spending while the rate of HIV cases in Baltimore is still raging. Although the Trump Administration will soon be gone, he has left the country with the largest public health crisis in 100 years which has also resulted in a shattered economy. We need your help more than ever so that we can continue the fight to save our community from the devastation of HIV disease and the ravages of COVID-19. AAB successfully advocated for increased NIH research funding this year and will continue to advocate for budget increases to NIH research funding and continued funding for the Ryan White Care Act for the care and support of people with HIV. HIV policy gets more complicated every year. Because of COVID-19, it is much harder to obtain the money we need to fight HIV. We are working very closely with the Baltimore City Health Department (BCHD) on their End the HIV Epidemic Initiative. We had two Town Halls in conjunction with the BCHD in 2019, to discuss community strategies to end HIV transmission in Baltimore, one featuring the Director of the NIH Office of AIDS (OAR) Research Dr. Maureen Goodenow in 2019, to provide input on federal research priorities. Innovative events like this do not happen without AIDS Action Baltimore.

Our work affects all who are touched by HIV/AIDS. Eventually many people with HIV/AIDS will need new drug cocktails when their old drugs are no longer working or because some are causing life-threatening side effects. AAB continues to work on many government and industry Community Advisory Boards (CABs). We are working with industry to continually change the standard of care by ensuring that their new drug pipelines remain robust, and by replacing older more toxic drugs with more effective, better tolerated drugs and exciting new long acting drugs that will require only daily, weekly or monthly dosing. This is the wave of the future.

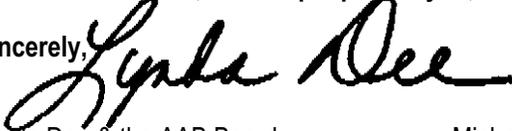

We are very excited that scientists have begun to work on HIV "cure related" research. AAB is working with government and industry and the national HIV community to make a "cure" for HIV or what we are now calling "HIV remission" or "durable HIV suppression" a reality. Even though this will take years to come to fruition, we have to start somewhere. AAB is a member of the Martin Delaney Cure Research Collaboratories (DARE) and amfAR CABs. AAB is also working with DARE researchers to bring additional resources to Baltimore for local cure research projects. We held three HIV Cure Research Forums in 2019 and 2020, and will hold more in 2021.

AAB has been instrumental in the formation of the Drug Development Committee of the AIDS Treatment Activists Coalition, a national organization that interacts with the pharmaceutical industry, pressuring companies to study drugs expeditiously and ethically and to include the HIV affected community in all aspects of research and development. AAB is also a leading member of the national Fair Pricing Coalition (FPC), pressuring "big pharma" to price HIV and HCV drugs reasonably, limit price increases, cap ongoing drug prices for government programs like AIDS Drug Assistance Programs and to initiate co-pay programs for patients with private insurance. We have convinced every HIV and Hepatitis C drug company to create programs that will cover all the outrageously expensive co-pays and other out of pocket (OOP) costs for people with private insurance. Our work directly affects Marylanders with ever increasing OOP prescription costs. We are also working very hard to ensure that people in Maryland and across the country who cannot afford their medications get their drugs for free from "big pharma" through Patient Assistance Programs (PAPs). Our work is way ahead of the curve. This type of advocacy does not happen in any other disease community. These OOP co-pay programs are now in danger of being discontinued by insurance providers. AAB is working in collaboration with numerous national organizations and the insurance industry to preserve co-pay programs.

We are still doing our best to help ourselves. Thanks to the many of you who attended our fabulous 2019 Tea at Cedarcroft event raised over $48,000. Unfortunately, we were unable to have our 2020 Tea Dance on September 20, at the Clifton Mansion, the restored Italian style mansion which was the residence of Johns Hopkins. So, we need your help now more than ever.

For more information on our events and the latest in HIV treatment and research as well as PrEP for HIV prevention or financial assistance and prescription drug access program information, please see our web site at www.aidsactionbaltimore.org and Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/prep.up.7> and <https://www.facebook.com/newhorizonsbmore/>

Please help us to continue our emergency financial assistance programs and our vital local and national research and treatment advocacy. We greatly appreciate your continued support in these tough economic times. Thank you in advance for your contribution and for your past generosity. We know you are called on to make many contributions. We very much appreciate your continued confidence in our work. Your donation will help us to save lives. We are forever grateful for your trust and loyal support. Remember, now more than ever, without people like you, there would be no AIDS Action Baltimore! We hope you and yours remain safe and well.

Sincerely,

Lynda Dee & the AAB Board
